Where to find us?

Emthanjeni Hydroponics Cooperative (EHC) is perched on commonage land on the outskirts of De Aar en route to Phillipstown (R48), where we produce the very best of cherry, cocktail and plum tomatoes.

We supply mainly De Aar based businesses which are linked to us on an 8 km well tarred road stretch. The historic town of De Aar – referring to the underground water supply occurring in arteries and also known for its railway junction – serves as our economic hub and niche market. Our cherry tomatoes and other produce complement our world-renowned and delectable "Karoo" lamb.

Our Differentiator

Our exponential growth crystallizes itself in us having gained market traction by being able to supply retail giants such as Shoprite-Checkers through its fresh produce supplier, Freshmark, and other major grocery outlets and eateries within the Emthanjeni Municipal boundary. We boast a top-notch packaging facility and cooler-trucks in our endeavour to guarantee you of the best quality.

Our Produce

We are proud small-scale suppliers of Red Cocktail, Sweethard, Sisley, Granadero, Josephina, Baby Plum tomatoes to Freshmark (Shoprite Holdings' fruit and vegetable procurement and distribution arm). Thus qualifying us as Global G.A.P accredited in adherence to the strictest of food safety standards.

Our produce is part of a wide range that is; tested daily for any deviation from the specified requirements, as well as microbiology activity and chemical residues (see www.shopriteholdings.co.za). As owners and beneficiaries of the project; we destined to grow with our tunnels, channeling us beyond the town of the junction; De Aar. Our harvest of prosperity is in accessing export markets.
